

Food can be more than a treat or a celebration. It can also be a destination. Here are a few upcoming food events for your next road trip.

JUNE 6-8

Great Wisconsin Cheese Festival

Little Chute, WI

(920) 788-7390 ext. 202

<http://wi-littlechute.civicplus.com/CurrentEvents.asp?EID=126>

June is dairy month and the community of Little Chute knows how to kick it off with the gusto it deserves. Patrons can indulge in a cheese breakfast, participate in the cheesecake or cheese curd-eating competition, or simply spectate the cheese carving mastery of local legend Troy Landwehr. The event also features free cheese tasting, a parade, and music as well as various carnival games. Any self-respecting member of the cheesehead nation dare not miss this event. Two-day pass $5, $3 children 4-12, free all day Sunday.

JUNE 6-7

Blues & BBQ Festival

Windsor/DeForest, WI

(608) 846-2922

www.deforestarea.com

Get your wet-naps ready for the first annual DeForest Area Blues & BBQ Festival. If you fancy yourself a chef, then sign up for the BBQ cook-off competition. If you prefer to be a spectator, the three-day event features a car show, ice cream social, art fair, volleyball tournament, and all the BBQ you could hope to consume. Good music and great food make for a wonderful time, don't miss it! $15 per person or $25 for a two-day pass.

JUNE 22

Braise Culinary School: Sunday Supper

Sun Prairie, WI

(414) 241-9577

www.braiseculinaryschool.com

What better way to learn about local food than to dine with the farmers who grow your food? You'll gather in the strawberry patch at JenEhr Family Farm and enjoy a homey, casual dinner while watching the sunset. Chef-Owner David Swanson from Braise on the Go Traveling Culinary School will cook and cohost the dinner with Kay Jensen and Paul Ehrhardt from JenEhr Family Farm. Cost $45.
